ABOUT COMMAND SYMBOLS

The commands introduced on P. 18-21 are for characters facing to the right. Commands are reversed when a character is facing to the left. Also, buttons inside parentheses are the controls for either the Wii Remote or the Wii Remote + Nunchuk (P. 2-3).

CROSS-OVER ATTACK

If there is a character in reserve, that partner will suddenly appear and attack. That new partner is then substituted for the previously controlled character. This can be used at any time when your partner is able to assist.

When a partner cannot assist, their face will not be displayed.

About the Life Gauge

Part of the damage received during battle is displayed as red. The red part of the life gauge recovers gradually over time if the character is in reserve. If you take a lot of damage, it is recommended that you change places with your partner and allow your life gauge to recover.

CROSS-OVER ASSIST

If your partner is in reserve, then you may have him or her jump in and attack your opponent. The partner will appear on the screen and attack your opponent once before exiting the screen.

- * When you use Cross-Over Assist once, the partner icon disappears for a short time and cannot be used again.
- * If the opponent hits your partner during Cross-Over Assist, the damage taken is greater than normal.

CHAIN COMBO

You can link attacks together in a chain by attacking in order of light moves to medium moves to strong moves.

Chain Combos with Wii Remote or Wii Remote + Nunchuk

By repeatedly pressing the attack button you can do an automatic chain combo. However, the number of attacks that can be made depends on the character used.

AIR COMBO

After doing an attack that sends your opponent into the air, your character can follow them and deliver another attack mid-air. However, if the first attack is guarded, it cannot be performed. Also, if you are not fast enough, your opponent will be able to guard against the mid-air attack.

Air Combo with Wii Remote or Wii Remote + Nunchuk

With an automatic Air Combo, if you hit your opponent into the air, your character will automatically pursue and do a mid-air light attack > medium attack > strong attack.

ADVANCING GUARD

during guard

during guard

Enter this command while guarding to push your opponent back and create some distance. This move is effective for avoiding an opponent's attack chain.

BAROQUE COMBO

By using up the red portion of your life gauge, you can do a chain combo that differs from attack chains. If you enter the command while attacking, you can do a Baroque Combo and your character's body will glow.

CROSS-OVER COUNTER

While guarding against opponent's attack C + P

Hyper Combo Gauge consumption 1 bar

While guarding against an opponent, you can have your partner appear and attack. Players can choose to switch with the other character. When a Cross-Over Counter is successful, your character's body will glow.

Cross-Over Counter can be used when there is 1 or more Hyper Combo Gauges and when partner is able to assist.

Hyper Combo Gauge consumption 1 bar

If you successfully hit your opponent in the air, you can switch places with your partner. This move can be combined with an Air Combo to increase the damage dealt. Cross-Over Air Raid can be used if your partner is able to assist and if you have 1 or more Hyper Combo Gauges.

SPECIAL MOVES

Command varies depending on the character. For details, see P.24-35

Each character has its own unique and powerful Special moves that do more damage than normal attacks. Also, even if a Special move is guarded against, it still does a small amount of damage to the opponent.

HYPER COMBO

Command varies depending on the character. For details, see P.24-35

Hyper Combo Gauge consumption 1-3 bars

Each character has a powered-up version of their Special moves called a Hyper Combo. A Hyper Combo requires 1 to 3 Hyper Combo Gauges to use with their power increasing based on the Hyper Combo's level. A LV.3 Hyper Combo will do a great deal of damage with a successful hit.

CROSS-OVER COMBINATION

When doing a Hyper Combo P

Hyper Combo Gauge consumption 3 bars

Perform a Hyper Combo with your partner in reserve. The damage to your opponent varies greatly depending on the Hyper Combo used.

TEAM HYPER COMBO

Command varies depending on the character. For details, see P.24-25.
